Office Hours: Wednesdays until 430pm

Course Goals

1. To further develop and practice the craft of acting.
2. To actively read selections of drama, and prepare all elements (actors, blocking, set, lighting, costume, makeup, etc.) for the stage.
3. To effectively critique performance pieces (ie: plays/musicals/other performances).
4. To translate a theme or concept into a written script, appropriate for an assigned audience.
5. To effectively communicate and collaborate with peers in a directing capacity.

Units of Study

The following units will be instructed to complement Introductory Theater lessons and curriculum.

- Elements of Theater Review & Basic Terminology
- One Act selection—What Makes a Good Play for the Stage?
- Improvisation, Pantomiming, and Stage Movement
- Voice and Dictation
- Stage Acting—Preparation and Performance
- Playwriting
- Directing

Writing Expectations

Through formal and informal writing, students will write for a variety of audiences and purposes (to understand, to explain, to analyze, and to evaluate).

- Journaling activities
- Script and research notes
- Formal critique of a performance
- Playwriting

Required Texts and Materials

Attendance, Make-Up, and Late Assignment Policies

Attendance is EXTREMELY important, particularly when you are slated to perform or when you are part of a production. Performances dates and technical assignments will be scheduled in advance. You must be prepared to perform on the scheduled day.

If you are absent, you have 3 days to turn in an absence note. If your absences are unexcused, you will not be permitted to make up missed work, and the grade will be entered as a 0. If your absence is excused, it is your responsibility to see me for your make-up work, and to reschedule performances when necessary.

A Note about Plagiarism

For written analyses, critiques and playwriting, there is zero tolerance for cheating/copy and paste work ethics. Plagiarism of any kind will earn you a zero for the assignment. All assignments may be subjected to verification/authentication to ensure plagiarism has not occurred.

Keep this in your binder or folder at all times
